Third Party Liability. Every person on Glendining & Co.'s premises at any time shall be deemed to be there at his or her risk. He or she shall have no claim against Glendining & Co. in respect of any accident which may occur or injury, damage or loss howsoever caused, save insofar as the injury, damage or loss shall be caused by the direct negligence of Glendining & Co. employees.

GENERAL CONDITIONS OF SALE

1. Definitions. In these Conditions Glendining & Co., who act only as auctioneers and agents for the vendor, are called "the Auctioneers", and the representative of Glendining & Co. conducting the auction is called "The Auctioneer".

2. General. Whilst Glendining & Co. make every effort to ensure the accuracy of their catalogue and the description of any lot:
   (a) Each lot as set out in the catalogue or as divided or combined with any other lot or lots is sold by the vendor with all faults, imperfections and errors of descriptions.
   (b) Glendining & Co. do not accept responsibility for the authenticity, attribution, genuineness, origin, authorship, date, age, period, condition or quality of any lot, unless they have been instructed in writing by the vendor so to certify, and in such case the Auctioneers do so as agents of the vendor and are not themselves responsible for such claims.
   (c) All statements, whether printed in the catalogue or made orally, as to any of the matters set out in (b) above are statements of opinion only and are not to be taken as being or implying any warranties or representations of fact by Glendining & Co., unless they have been instructed in writing by the vendor so to certify, and in such case the Auctioneers do so as agents of the vendor and are not themselves responsible for such claims.
   (d) Any claim under any Statute must be received in writing by the Auctioneer within ten days of the day of the sale.

3. The Auction.
   (a) The Auctioneer has absolute discretion to divide any lot, to combine any two or more lots or to withdraw any lot or lots from the sale, to refuse bids, regulate bidding or cancel the sale without in any case giving any reason or without previous notice. He may bid on behalf of the vendor for all goods which are being offered subject to reserve or at the Auctioneer's discretion.
   (b) The highest bidder shall be the buyer except in the case of a dispute. If during the auction the Auctioneer considers that a dispute has arisen, he has absolute discretion to settle it or to re-offer the lot. The Auctioneer may at his sole discretion determine the advance of bidding or refuse a bid.
   (c) Each lot is put up for sale subject to any reserve price placed by the vendor. Where there is no reserve price (but not otherwise) the seller has the right to bid either personally or by any one person (who may be the Auctioneer).
   (d) All conditions, notices, descriptions, statements and other matters in the catalogue and elsewhere concerning any lot are subject to any statements modifying or affecting the same made by the Auctioneer from the rostrum prior to any bid being accepted for the lot.

4. Rescission. Notwithstanding any other terms of these Conditions, if within fourteen days after the sale Glendining & Co. have received from the buyer of any lot notice in writing that in his view the lot is a deliberate forgery and within twenty-one days after such notification the buyer returns the same to Glendining & Co. in the same condition as at the time of sale and by producing evidence, the burden of proof to be upon the buyer, satisfies Glendining & Co. that considered in the light of the entry in the catalogue the lot is a deliberate forgery, then the sale of the lot will be rescinded and the purchase price of the same refunded. Both the buyer and the vendor agree to be bound by the decision of Glendining & Co.

5. Default. Glendining & Co. disclaim responsibility for default by either the buyer or the vendor because they act as agents for the vendor only and therefore do not pay out to the vendor until payment is received from the buyer. Instructions given by telephone are accepted at the sender's risk and must be confirmed in writing forthwith.

6. In the event of a sale by private treaty both the vendor and the buyer agree to be bound by the General and any Special Conditions of Sale.

VENDORS CONDITIONS

7. Instructions. As Glendining & Co. are auctioneers, all goods delivered to Glendining & Co.'s premises will be deemed to be delivered for sale by auction unless otherwise previously stated in writing and will be catalogued and sold at Glendining & Co.'s discretion and accepted by Glendining & Co. subject to all the Sale Conditions. By delivering the goods to Glendining & Co. for inclusion in their auction sales each vendor acknowledges that he or she has accepted and agreed to be bound by all these Conditions.

8. Collections. Glendining & Co. do not themselves usually undertake the collection of goods but will, if required in writing, instruct a contractor on the vendor's behalf in their capacity as agents. Glendining & Co. disclaim all responsibility for loss or damage to goods or for unauthorised removal of goods and for damage to premises caused by the contractor who should be insured for such risks. Unless instructions are received to the contrary the charge for these services will be deducted from the proceeds of sale.

9. Loss or Damage. Glendining & Co. disclaim all responsibility for loss or damage to goods or for unauthorised removal of goods unless caused by the direct negligence of their employees.

10. Storage. Glendining & Co. reserve the right to store or arrange for the storage of goods delivered to them for sale either on their own premises or elsewhere at their sole discretion. They exempt themselves from any liability for loss or damage to goods delivered to their sale rooms without sufficient sale instructions and reserve the right to make a minimum storage charge at 25p per lot per day for such goods (unless the loss or damage is caused by the negligence of their employees).

11. Right to Sell. Vendors will be charged for goods left on the premises if the vendor has been requested to remove them and if the goods are not removed within twenty-one days of such request Glendining & Co. reserve the right to sell the goods to defray costs and storage charges.

12. Insurance.
   (a) Unless otherwise instructed in writing all goods on Glendining & Co.'s premises and in their custody will be held insured against the risks of fire, theft following forcible entry and water damage (but not against accidental breakage or damage) for which insurance Glendining & Co. will charge a premium of £1 per £100 (minimum £1). The value of the goods so covered shall be the gross amount realised, or in the case of unsold lots the best bid, or in the case of goods withdrawn prior to a sale that which the specialised staff of Glendining & Co. shall in their absolute discretion estimate to be the auction value of such goods.

(b) Glendining & Co. shall not be responsible for damage to or the loss, theft or destruction of any goods not so insured upon the owner's written instructions.

(c) Glendining & Co. shall not be responsible for accidental breakage, loss or damage howsoever caused unless directly caused by negligence of their employees.

(d) In respect of any article delivered to Glendining & Co. if the vendor has in force a policy or policies of insurance in which the article is specifically mentioned as being insured, whether or not for an agreed sum or value, the vendor shall notify his insurers of and shall himself note Glendining & Co.'s interest as bailees in such policy or policies.

13. Reserves.
(a) All goods are put up for sale WITHOUT RESERVE at the Auctioneer's discretion unless written instructions as to reserves are received by one hour prior to the commencement of the sale.
(b) In the event of any reserve price not being reached at auction Glendining & Co. are empowered to sell after the auction, by private treaty, at not less than the reserve price, as long as the goods remain on Glendining & Co.'s premises. In the event of such a sale by private treaty the Conditions of Sale applicable to a buyer governing the auction will apply.

14. Indemnity. The vendor shall duly indemnify Glendining & Co. against any claims in connection with any goods sold by Glendining & Co. on the vendor's behalf.

15. Value Added Tax. A vendor who sends for sale by auction any chattel(s) which is an asset of his business must disclose to the Auctioneer whether or not he is a registered person for Value Added Tax purposes and, if so, his registered number and whether or not he intends to operate the special scheme covering works of art, etc. This information must be supplied to the Auctioneer on or prior to delivery of the goods.

16. The vendor authorises the Auctioneer to deduct commission and expenses at the stated rates from the hammer price and acknowledges the Auctioneer's right to retain any premium payable by the purchaser.

17. Rights to Photographs and Illustrations. The vendor gives Glendining & Co. full and absolute right to photograph and illustrate any lot placed in its hands for sale and to use such photographs and illustrations and any photographs provided by the vendor at any time at its absolute discretion (whether or not in connection with the auction).

BUYERS CONDITIONS

18. Inspection. Each buyer by making a bid for a lot acknowledges that he has satisfied himself fully before bidding by inspection or otherwise as to all the Sale Conditions the physical condition of and description of the lot including but not restricted to whether the lot is damaged or has been repaired or restored.

19. Property and Risk. Legal title will not pass to the buyer until the lot(s) has been paid for in full and the Auctioneers shall be entitled to a lien on any lot sold until the purchase price (as defined in 22 below) is paid in full but each lot is at the sole risk of the buyer from the fall of the hammer. Each buyer shall forthwith give his full names and permanent address and if called upon to do so by the Auctioneer shall forthwith pay to Glendining & Co. such proportion of the purchase price as the Auctioneer may require. If the buyer fails to do so, the lot may at the Auctioneer's sole discretion be put up again and re-sold.

20. Every bidder shall be deemed to act as principal unless there is in force a written acknowledgement by Glendining & Co. that he acts as agent on behalf of a named principal.

21. Removal of Goods.
(a) No purchase shall be claimed or removed until it has been paid for and the sale has been concluded. All purchases shall be paid for and removed at the buyer's risk and expense by the end of the second working day after the sale, failing which the Auctioneer shall not be responsible if the same are lost, stolen, damaged or destroyed, and all lots not so removed shall remain at the risk of the buyer and subject to a minimum warehousing charge of 25p per lot per day. If they are not paid for and removed within seven days of the sale the Auctioneer may re-sell them by auction or privately without notice to the buyer. Any liability which there may be on the part of the Auctioneer in respect of any loss shall be restricted to a maximum of the price paid by the buyer of the lot.
(b) In the event of any failure of the buyers to comply with any of the above conditions the damages recoverable by the seller or the Auctioneers from the defaulter shall include any loss arising on any re-sale of the lot, together with the charges and expenses in respect of both sales, and together with interest at 2% above Midland Bank PLC Base Rate upon the price of any lot which has not been paid for within 48 hours of the sale, and any money deposited in part payment shall be held by the Auctioneers on account of any liability of the defaulter to them or to the seller. The Auctioneers are unable to accept payment from successful bidders other than in cash or by the bidder's own cheque. Cheques drawn by third parties, whether in the Auctioneers' favour or requiring endorsement, cannot be accepted.

22. Value Added Tax. The Buyer will be liable to pay V.A.T. at the standard rate on the hammer price on those Lots indicated with a dagger (†) after the Lot number. This V.A.T. is refundable on proof of export by Overseas Buyers within 28 days of Sale.

23. Purchase Price. The purchaser shall pay the hammer price together with a premium of 10% of the hammer price. The premium is NOT negotiable and attracts V.A.T. at the standard rate and is payable by ALL purchasers. The vendor authorises the Auctioneer to deduct commission and expenses at the stated rates from the hammer price and acknowledges the Auctioneer's right to retain the premium payable by the purchaser.

L/Sgt. Wood has always been a fine example to the men of his section, of devotion to duty. Even as long ago as the Battle of Alamein this NCO was commended for his meritorious work, and the efficient way he carried out his duties even under very heavy enemy fire. On one occasion during 8 Sept. 44 L/Sgt. Wood was constructing an anti-scour wall under a 120' T.S. Bailey Bridge near Bibbiena, Italy, and during the whole of the day and succeeding days this bridge was heavily shelled intermittently, but L/Sgt. Wood with great devotion to duty and leadership encouraged his men and kept them working throughout, and by this means prevented damage from flood water of the river to the bridge approaches which would have otherwise necessitated the closing of the bridge. On every occasion L/Sgt. Wood had acquitted himself as a fine example of a NCO with great courage, an example which he has continued to set during the period he has been with his unit on operations in the N.W. European theatre until the cessation of hostilities.

This officer entered the Navy, 1 Feb. 1804, as 1st-cl. Vol., on board the Utrecht 64, Capt. John Wentworth Loring, bearing the flag in the Downs of his uncle Vice-Admiral Philip Patton. In the following June he removed as Midshipman to the Peissant 74, Capt. John Irwin, lying at Portsmouth; then on being received, next, into the Bellerophon 74, Capts. John Loring, John Cooke, and Edw. Rotheram, he was afforded an opportunity of participating, 21 Oct. 1805, in the battle of Trafalgar. After having served for three years and nine months in the Niobe 40, commanded by his old Captain, J. W. Loring, under whom, during that period, he had assisted at the capture of Le Néarque corvette of 16 guns, he became Master's Mate, in Nov. 1809, of the Polyphemus 64, Capts. Wm. Pryce Cumby and Thos. Graves, of which ship, stationed at Jamaica, he was nominated, 26 Aug. 1810, an Acting-Lieutenant. He was confirmed 13 Nov. following, and was subsequently appointed—26 April, 1811, for five months, to the Dispatch sloop, Capt. Jas. Aberdour, also in the West Indies—29 July, 1812, to the Doterel 18, Capt. Wm. Westcott Daniel, successively employed in the Channel, the West Indies, and North America—and, in April, 1813, and Nov. 1814, to the Loire 40 and Junon 38, Capts. Thos. Brown and Clotworthy Upton, both on the station last named, where he performed, in both ships, the duties of First-Lieutenant. Attaining the rank of Commander 13 June, 1815, her served in that capacity from 3 May, 1826, until posted, 30 April, 1827, in the Trinculo 18, on the Cork station. The latter was his last appointment. He accepted the Retirement in 1847.

Capt. Patton was presented with the honorary medallion of the Royal Humane Society 13 April 1826.

"Capt. Chas. Patton was made a Lieutenant 17 Feb. 1780, a Commander 25 Sept. 1781, and a Post-Captain 30 May, 1795. During the whole of the late war he was in superintendence of the Transport department at Plymouth, and acquitted himself of his duties in a manner that gained him the esteem of all who were employed under him, at the same time that it yielded unqualified satisfaction to the Board of Admiralty and the Commander-in-Chief at the port. He was the author of a work entitled "An attempt to establish the Basis of Freedom on simple and unerring Principles", 8vo., published in 1793; and of another called "The Effects of Property upon Society and Government"; to which was added, by his brother, Admiral Philip Patton, "An Historical Review of the Monarchy and Republic of Rome", 8vo. 1797.

Obituary

SIR FREDERICK BOWHILL

Former A.O.C.-in-C. Coastal Command

Air Chief Marshal Sir Frederick Bowhill, G.B.E., K.C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O. and Bar, who died at his home in London on Saturday at the age of 79, had a remarkable and distinguished career of some 50 years in the Merchant Navy, the Royal Naval Air Service, and the Royal Air Force.

He was undoubtedly one of the most colourful personalities of his day. Although he rose to the highest ranks of the R.A.F., the tang of the sea remained with him. With his stern, weather-beaten face, and with shaggy eyebrows of a vivid red hue which earned him the affectionate nickname of "Ginge", he made a striking figure. Meeting him for the first time, people were apt to regard him as cold and rather awe-inspiring, but behind this hard, bleak facade he had a kindly nature and a keen sense of humour.

Bowhill had the capacity to command respect and obedience, but without apparent effort he inspired the confidence of his men and won their lasting affection and admiration. He was reticent about his own achievements but unstinting in giving credit to subordinates and in making known the successes of others. A bachelor until he was 52. Bowhill's work was his consuming interest, and he showed skill, ingenuity and foresight in every task with which he was entrusted. He will best be remembered for his work as Commander-in-Chief of Coastal Command during the early part of the 1939–45 War, for the big part he played in building up the Atlantic bomber ferry, by means of which American and Canadian aircraft were delivered to Britain, and as the first head of Transport Command.

At the age of 16 Bowhill's ambition to enter the Royal Navy was frustrated by his failure to pass the examination for a cadetship in H.M.S. Britannia. Where Bowhill failed, success was gained by his friend, a boy named Teddy Evans, who eventually gained fame as Evans of the Broke. Bowhill also went to sea, but as an apprentice in sail on a barque carrying coal to South Africa. In those days conditions were rough and hard and the food provided for seamen little better than in Nelson's day. One voyage of 199 days from San Francisco to Antwerp is believed to have been a "slow record" even for a sailing ship. The vessel in which Bowhill was third mate, took six weeks to round the Horn, and for weeks the crew had to subsist on the cargo of grain. On his travels under sail Bowhill read medical text books with the object of qualifying as a doctor in case he did not make progress at sea. It was 17 years before he achieved his long-cherished ambition of being admitted to the Royal Navy, though he had earlier seen service in the R.N.R. From sailing ships he went to the P. & O. Line, and it was while he was serving in steamships that the Wright Brothers made their first heavier-than-air flight and gave Bowhill his lasting interest in aviation. When he was 32 he heard that the Admiralty were contemplating experiments with aircraft, and read an announcement offering tuition in flying for £75. He took leave from the Merchant Service, qualified as a pilot, and was accepted by the Royal Navy. From that time onwards his love of the sea was shared with a passion for flying, and he regarded it as a fortunate chance that some of his commands enabled him to enjoy both.

SEAPLANE FLYING

Of a Scottish Border family deriving its name from Bowhill village, near Selkirk, Frederick William Bowhill was the son of Colonel J. Bowhill, The Wiltshire Regiment, and was born on September 1, 1880, at Morar, Gwalior, India. He was educated at Blackheath and in the Thames Nautical College (H.M.S. Worcester). His early career was spent in the Merchant Service, from 1896. He became a midshipman in the R.N.R. in 1898 and was promoted to sub-lieutenant in 1904 and lieutenant in 1911. He learnt to fly on a Bristol biplane on Salisbury Plain, his pilot's certificate being dated January 21, 1913. Three months later he transferred to the Royal Navy as a supplementary lieutenant, and was appointed to the naval flying school at Eastchurch as flying officer. When war began in August, 1914, he was placed in command of the seaplane carrier Empress, which operated in the North Sea and off the Belgian coast. On September 26, 1914, he was promoted to flight commander, continuing in the Empress. Seaplanes at that time were decidedly experimental, and when loaded with bombs could not rise from any but the lightest of seas. Yet on Christmas DAy, 1914, those from the Empress were among the seven which raided Cuxhaven. In October, 1915, Bowhill was recalled to the Admiralty to organize a seaplane unit for Mesopotamia, and from January, 1916, with the rank of squadron commander, he commanded it there. From August, 1916, to March, 1918, he commanded the R.N.A.S. unit working off the coast and inland in East Africa.

While there he was promoted to wing commander in June, 1917, and in February, 1918, was awarded the D.S.O.

On the formation of the R.A.F. on April 1, 1918, he was graded as lieutenant-colonel, and during the concluding months of the war commanded a wing in the Aegean Group, where he gained a bar to the D.S.O. During 1919 he served in Russia, at Constantinople, and in the Mediterranean. He was appointed C.M.G. and awarded the Russian Order of St. Vladimir and the Greek Order of St. Saveur.

AT AIR MINISTRY

In the post-war establishment of the R.A.F. on August 1, 1919, he received a permanent commission as wing commander. From October, 1919, to June, 1920, he was chiev of staff and second-in-command of the successful operations against the Mad Mullah in Somaliland, for which he was again mentioned in dispatches (the sixth time). Promoted to group captain in January, 1921, he was shortly afterwards appointed chief staff officer in the Coastal Area (later Coastal Command). In February, 1925, he again went east to command the aircraft depot at ABoukir, Egypt, and in October, 1926, was posted to Iraq as chief staff officer. While there he was promoted to air commodore in July, 1928.

For two years from May, 1929, he was Director of Organization and Staff Duties at the Air Ministry, and in May, 1931, became Air Officer Commanding, Fighting Area (later Fighter Command), receiving promotion to air vice-marshal in July, 1931. He returned to the Air Ministry in July, 1933, as Air Member for Personnel on the Air Council, and held the post for four strenuous years, which saw the start of rearmament and a vast expansion of numbers and training facilities. He was made C.B. in June, 1935, and promoted to K.C.B. in January, 1936, in which month he also became an Air Marshal.

From August, 1937, he was Air Officer Commanding-in-Chief, Coastal Command. This was the command he held during the first two years of the War of 1939–45, when Coastal Command aircraft co-operated with the Navy in vast areas between Norway and Gibraltar and far out into the Atlantic, searching for and attacking U-boats and German warships, protecting our convoys and carrying out reconnaissance. When war began the command had only 171 aircraft at its disposal, many of them of inferior performance, and to make the best use of his available strength Bowhill instituted what became known as "scarecrow" patrols. These were carried out by Tiger Moth training aircraft carrying neither bombs nor guns, which flew over the U-boat routes from Germany to the Atlantic, frequently forcing them to submerge by unfounded fear of an attack. It was a Coastal Command aircraft which spotted the notorious German "hell ship" Altmark, with British sailors aboard as prisoners, off the Norwegian coast in 1940.

When Bowhill left Coastal Command it had the remarkable record of having escorted more than 4,000 convoys, made about 500 attacks on U-boats, and destroyed many other German vessels. In June, 1941, he was selected to command the organization in Canada which became necessary to take delivery from the newly formed Flight Ferry Command of the United States Army Air Corps and fly to the United Kingdom the large numbers of aircraft produced in American factories. In March, 1943, he took on a still larger task on being appointed Air Officer Commanding-in-Chief, Transport Command. In addition to controlling the operations of R.A.F. transport squadrons at home, this new command became responsible for the organization and control of strategic air routes, for all overseas ferrying, and for the reinforcement moves of squadrons to and between oversea theatres. The Ferry Command at Montreal became a subordinate formation. Sir Frederick held the Transport Command until February, 1945. On retiring, he was appointed to the United States Legion of Merit, Degree of Commander, the citation stating that he had "manifested an exceptional degree of interest in promoting the most effective and cordial relationships with the American Air Transport Command."

He was created G.B.E. in the 1941 birthday honours. From 1946 to 1957 he served as Chief Aeronautical Adviser to the Ministry of Civil Aviation (later the Ministry of Transport and Civil Aviation), for which he received the warm thanks of the Government. In 1945 he was elected Master of the Honourable Company of Master Mariners.

Bowhill was married in 1932 to Dorothy, widow of Wing Commander A. B. Gaskell, and daughter of R. H. Arlingham-Davies.

AN UNQUESTIONED LEADER

Sir William Hildred writes:—

May I add a comment to your obituary notice about Sir Frederick Bowhill?

The notice says that, meeting him for the first time, people were apt to regard him as cold, but soon found, behind a hard façade, a kindly nature and a keen sense of humour. May I endorse these words? We first met in 1941, flew to Collinstown, went across Ireland in a Dublin taxicab, and took off for Montreal from Foynes in a flying boat. During the taxi journey the conversation was entirely confined to his remarkable eyebrows. He thawed on the journey across the ocean, and when we reached Montreal I found that all the things you have said about him were indeed true.

The speed and decisiveness with which he took control of the group assembled at St. Hubert ariport for the ferrying of bombers across the Atlantic, the sureness with which he analysed the various personalities, all new to him, the manner in which he settled at the Ritz-Carlton and collected round him the elements of Ferry Command, and the way in which all those who came under his command found it possible to accept his leadership without question, to respect him and to like him, all testify to the fact that he was a leader of men and a striking and lovable personality.

This impression was further strengthened by the friendships he so quickly formed and so long retained in a city of which he ahd his wife grew very fond; a city in which he lived after the war when he became the first United Kingdom representative on the newly formed International Civil Aviation Organization. He continued with an active life and the exercise of judgement far longer than most men, and almost died in harness, for it is not long since he left the post in the then-existing Ministry of Transport and Civil Aviation which he occupied with distinction after he finished with I.C.A.O.

Many will desire to pay a tribute to his memory, but I should like to record my respect and affection which grew during an intensive period and which remained so long as he lived. He will be greatly missed.

Extract from "The Times" 18.3.1960:

Sir George Cribbet writes:—

Your admirable tribute to the late Air Chief Marshall Sir Frederick Bowhill rightly gave prominence to his distinguished career in the R.A.F. and touched only lightly on the valuable work he did for British civil aviation following his retirement from the service.

When, following the International Civil Aviation Conference at Chicago in 1944, the Provisional International Civil Aviation Organisation (P.I.C.A.O.) was formed, Sir Frederick Bowhill was appointed by Lord Swinton to be the first United Kingdom member of its Council. In that capacity Sir Frederick not only ably and zealously represented his country but he played a leading part in the formative stages of the permanent organization (I.C.A.O.) which succeeded the provisional body. During this period he earned an extraordinary degree of goodwill and admiration from representatives of all nationalities. He was held in sincere and genuine affection and his departure from I.C.A.O.'s headquarters at Montreal in mid-1946 was universally regretted.

He had, however, been recalled to serve as Chief Aeronautical Adviser to the Minister of Civil Aviation, a post for which his great background of experience in aeronautical matters and the outstanding eminence he had achieved in the world of aviation peculiarly fitted him. He continued for no less than 11 years to serve successive Ministers in that capacity. He was chairman of the Air Safety Board and of numerous special committees and in this way, as well as in his personal capacity, he played an outstanding part in shaping operational and technical policy for a rapidly expanding industry. His rare quality of innate judgment, his wisdom as an "elder statesman" and his down-to-earth approach to practical problems were invaluable.

He was held in great affection and respect by all his colleagues in civil aviation and he will be remembered by many not only as a distinguished officer of the R.A.F. and as and outstanding figure in postwar civil aviation but also as a wise counsellor and a kindly friend.

SIR FREDERICK BOWHILL

Captain S. W. Roskill writes:—

There is an important historical point to which none of your correspondents has referred in reviewing the late Sir Frederick Bowhill's work as Commander-in-Chief Coastal Command. The Home Fleet lost touch with the Bismarck in the early hours of May 25, 1941, but that evening the Admiralty and Admiral Tovey both deduced that she was likely to make for Brest. The critical question then was where the shore-based patrols should be placed to give the best chance of re-sighting her, and much discussion ensued between the Admiralty and Coastal Command headquarter. The former wished to place them across the direct course to Brest, but Bowhill held that, in the position in which the Bismarck's captain found himself, he was more likely to steer to make a landfall at Cape Finisterre. It was therefore on his initiative that a long-range Catalina (Z of No. 209 Squadron) was dispatched early on May 26 to establish a patrol well to the south of the direct course, and at 10.30 a.m. that day she resighted the enemy. Shortly afterwards the Bismarck did alter straight towards Brest. One must surely attribute Bowhill's brilliant reasoning, which had such decisive consequences, to his earlier sea experience, and to his understanding of seamen's minds. (Research by John Prior Esq.)

Thomson, C.B., C.M.G., who was one of the central figures during a Mutiny in the British Army at Etaples, in 1917. The ringleader of this Mutiny was Percy Toplis, whose exploits have been publicised by "The Monocled Mutineer", a B.B.C. Television series. The group comprises: Order of the Bath (Mily), silver gilt and enamelled neck badge; Order of St. Michael and St. George, silver gilt and enamelled neck badge. ∵ Brigadier-General Andrew Graham Thomson, C.B., C.M.G., late Royal Engineers. Was the Commandant of the camp at Etaples during the period of the famous mutiny in 1917, and was one of the chief characters featured in the very recent B.B.C. Television series "The Monocled Mutineer", being played by the famous actor Timothy West.

Was the son of Surgeon Major General Thomson, Hon. Physician to Queen Victoria and King Edward VII. Born in Feb. 1858 he was commissioned in the Royal Engineers in Jan. 1877, made 1st Lieut. in 1879 when he joined the 17th Fortress Co., R.E. at Aldershot and proceeded to Malta in 1880.

At the outbreak of the Egyptian Campaign his company being the only R.E. available accompanied the troops making the first landing at Alexandria in July 1882. After work there and at Ramleh they were among the first troops to be landed at Ismailia. Here for a time he acted as A.D.C. to the C.R.E. but rejoined his Company when it was called to accompany the Cavalry at the front. He was present at the Battle of Tel-el-Kebir and received the medal and clasp. At Cairo he was in charge of the very large working parties of Egyptians improving and remodelling Barrack accommodation. He returned to Malta in charge of bringing out stores and baggage to Abbassiyeh where he gave much assistance during the trying cholera scourge. In June 1884 the 17th Co. left for Suakin to make the preparations for the coming Campaign and under extreme heat conditions he prepaired ship piers, blockhouses, water supplies, mines and light railways etc.

He was present at the actions of Hasheen and the affair at Tamai and with his Company and the Scots Guards held the farthest advance post ot Tambuk on the line to Berber. Mentioned in Despatches, Thomson received the Brevet of Major for his services immediately on his being promoted Captain.

He then went to the Ordnance Survey and stayed until 1890 when he joined his old Company at Aldershot in its Annual Fieldwork Camp. Malta saw him again from October 1891 to December 1896 when he went to the I.G.F.'s Office. Thomson served in South Africa from November 1899 to August 1902, and at the very unhealthy station of Komati Poort started the first blockhouse of thick sand bag walling and steel loopholes, and stuck to his work in spite of failing health.

He took part in opns. as a C.R.E. of Division in the O.F.S. inc. Actions at Vet River and Zand River, also in the Transvaal inc. the action at Belfast also in the C.C. south of the Orange River. M.I.D. Brevet of Lieut.-Col.; Q.S.A. with five clasps, and K.S.A. with two clasps. From Jan. 1903 to April 1908 he commanded the Training Battalion at Chatham and King Edward VII expressed great satisfaction at all he saw at his inspection.

Promoted Colonel he became the Commandant of the Royal Military Academy in September 1908 until September 1912 (Woolwich).

Thomson went to France immediately on the declaration of War as Commandant L. of C. and served there until October 1917 having the rank of Temp./Brigadier-General.

This is where the records skate over what happened to him, and this was brought out more fully in the recent book on the Mutiny of 1917 and in the B.B.C. series "The Monocled Mutineer". To a very great extent the fact that there was a mutiny at the camp at Etaples was supressed, and the fact that Brigadier-General Thomson was a key figure in that mutiny. The recently published book deals with the whole matter in much more detail. The official excuse for his leaving his appointment in France was "his health failing", but in retrospect this was far from the truth. He was sent home, being an embarrassment to the High Command.

In February 1918 he was sent to Holland for a year, in command of our P.O.W.s there. His work was obviously appreciated, for the British Minister at the Hague wrote thanking him for his good work and saying what a great help he had been in bringing about friendly relations between the two countries.

M.I.D. five times and awarded the C.M.G. He received the C.B. in 1911. He retired in February 1919, and died at Vevey in 1926 at the age of 68.

Note: The mutiny at Etaples, was kept secret for nearly 60 years. The War Office papers relating to the "disturbances", as the week-long riots were officially termed, will not be released until the 1990s. Six days of mutiny immobilised 100,000 men, and this on the eve of a big push.

Copy of citation from M.O.D., Stanmore:

Lt. Donaldson was the gun position officer of C Troop of 2 Bty. At 1100 hrs. on 25 Sept. his troop was attacked by a Tiger tank and an SP gun at about 150^{x} range. His troop at one came under heavy MG fire and suffered such heavy casualties to the gun detachment that it became impossible to produce effective fire from his guns. Nothing daunted Donaldson, taking L/Bdr. Dickson with him, manned a 6 pdr. A/T gun whose crew had been killed but which was in position about 100^{x} from his command post. To reach this gun Lt. Donaldson had to cross open ground swept by enemy fire. Together with L/Bdr. Dickson he brought the gun into action and fired eight or nine shots at the tank until his gun was destroyed by a direct hit which blew him off the gun temporarily stunning him. When he came to, Lt. Donaldson together with L/Bdr. Dickson, made his way under heavy fire back to No. 1 Gun of C. Troop, whose detachment had been killed and bringing the gun back into action fired four shots at the tank without effect. AP ammunition being then expended Lt. Donaldson still under heavy fire went to find some more covered by L/Bdr. Dickson firing H.E. He collected three rounds of AP and two of these were fired without effect before the gun jammed. L/Bdr. Dickson then went back to the wagon lines and fetched a Piat with which Lt. Donaldson attempted to engage the tank but without success. The whole of this action took place under heavy fire from theTiger tank and the SP gun and under small arms fire from enemy infantry who had infiltrated into the woods surrouding the positions. Lt. Donaldson then withdrew to 3 Bty.'s position as enemy infantry were occupying the gun position. Nevertheless later that day he returned to the position and ensured that no wounded men of his troop remained on the position and removed the sights and truck blocks of all the guns not already destroyed. When the order to withdraw was received he had the remnants of the troop back across his rear. Lt. Donaldson displayed courage and determination in the face of the enemy of the highest order, and it was largely due to the indifference to danger that the enemy failed to press home their attack beyond the outskirts of 2 Bty.'s situation and on to the last line of defence in that area.

J. E. F. Linton, Maj. R.A. Cmdg. Air Landing, Light Regt. R.A. 2 Oct. 44.

Extract from "The Battle of Arnhem" by Christopher Hibbert:

Even before the conference had broken up, however, the Germans made a determined effort to cut the Division's tenuous hold on the river frontage as if they had already discovered the British intentions. Down by the church the 1st Light Regiment's troop positions which had been part of the front line since Thursday, were overrun and the enemy poured into the perimeter and across the western withdrawal route, cutting the divisional area almost in two before being driven off by the few remaining 75-mm guns fired at a range of no more than 50 yards over open sights. In 2 Battery, now completely overrun by enemy tanks, there was only one 75-mm howitzer still serviceable. Lieutenant A. Donaldson and Lance-Bombardier J. H. Dickson managed to reach it when their 6 pounder anti-tank gun was knocked out by a Tiger tank. The howitzer was then also knocked out, but not before Donaldson and Dickson had hit and broken one of the tank's tracks. Crawling away from the smoking howitzer these two young men found a Piat and with the last rounds of ammunition left in the area they engaged the tank for the third time.

Extract from "A Bridge Too Far" by Cornelius Ryan:

Allied forces suffered more casualties in Market-Garden than in the mammoth invasion of Normandy. Most historians agree that in the 24-hour period of D-Day, June 6th, 1944, total Allied losses reached an estimated 10,000–12,000. In the nine days of Market-Garden combined losses—airborne and ground forces—in killed, wounded and missing amounted to more than 17,000.

British casualties were the highest: 13,226 Urquhart's division was almost completeley destroyed. In the 10,005 Arnhem force, which includes the Poles and glider pilots, casualties totalled 7,578. In addition to this figure R.A.F. pilot and crew losses came to another 294, making a total in wounded, dead and missing of 7,872. Horrock's XXX Corps lost 1,480 and the British and 12th Corps another 3,974.

American losses, including glider pilots and IX Troop Carrier Command, are put at 3,974. General Gavin's 82nd Airborne Division had 1,432; General Taylor's 101st 2,118; and air crew losses 424.

MONTY'S TRIBUTE TO THE HEROES OF ARNHEM

TAC HEADQUARTERS
21 ARMY GROUP
28 September 1944

Major-Gen. R. E. Urquhart
Comd. 1 Airborne Division

1. I want to express to you personally, and to every officer and man in your Division, my appreciation of what you all did at ARNHEM for the Allied cause.

Lot

I also want to express to you my own admiration, and the admiration of us all in 21 Army Group, for the magnificent fighting spirit that your Division displayed in battle against great odds on the north bank of the Lower Rhine in Holland.

2. There is no shadow of doubt that, had you failed, operations elsewhere would have been gravely compromised. You did not fail, and all is well elsewhere.
I would like all Britain to know that in your final message from the ARNHEM area you said:
"All will be ordered to break out rather than surrender.
We have attempted our best, and we will continue to do our best as long as possible".
An all Britain will say to you:
"You did your best; you all did your duty; and we are proud of you".
3. In the annals of the British Army there are many glorious deeds. In our Army we have always drawn great strength and inspiration from past traditions, and endeavoured to live up to the high standards of those who have gone before. But there can be few episodes more glorious than the epic of ARNHEM, and those that follow after will find it hard to live up to the standards that you have set.
4. So long as we have in the armies of the British Empire officers and men who will do as you have done, then we can indeed look forward with complete confidence to the future. In years to come it will be a great thing for a man to be able to say: "I FOUGHT AT ARNHEM".
5. Please give my best wishes, and my grateful thanks, to every officer and man in your Division.

Lot

During the bridging operations of 26th October to 28th October, 1918, at Salettuol, he rendered extremely valuable services under difficult and dangerous circumstances. Under hostile shelling and bombing he showed a fine disregard of danger, and set a splendid example to his men. It was largely owing to personal example that the operation was a success, and he showed great skill in organising the work under very difficult circumstances.

Citation for D.F.C.

As Flight Engineer, Flying Officer Harvey has taken part in a large number of operation sorties, many of which have been with the Airborne forces. In September, 1944, at ARNHEM, his aircraft was hit by anti-aircraft fire and set ablaze; nevertheless this officer cooly continued to dispatch the panniers of explosives and then went to the assistance of the rear gunner, who was wounded. Despite his repeated attempts to extinguish the flames, the fire became uncontrollable and the aircraft was crash landed. Subsequently, Flying Officer Harvey showed exceptional initiative and skill in making his way to our lines. A skillful and enthusiastic squadron engineer leader, this officer has always set a high standard of technical skill, courage and devotion to duty.

Extract from "Bomber Squadrons of the R.A.F.":

No. 196 Squadron was formed at Driffield, Yorkshire, on 7th November, 1942, as a night-bomber squadron and during the period February–October, 1943, made many raids on enemy ports and industrial centres in Europe and also played an active part in Gardening (minelaying) for victory.

It flew Wellingtons with No. 4 Group at first and then, after having left Yorkshire and moved south to an airfield in Cambridgeshire, flew Stirlings with No. 3 Group. On 1st December, by which time it was based in Leicestershire, No. 196 was transferred from Bomber Command to the Allied Expeditionary Air Force (No. 38 Group) and during the remainder of the European war served in the transport and glider-tug roles. Flying Stirling IV's it first went into action in the latter role (towing Airspeed Horsas) on D-Day, 6th June, 1944, two subsequent occasions being the Arnhem airborne invasion and the final airborne assault across the Rhine in March, 1945.

After V.E. Day the squadron was employed on tranport support with Transport Command and undertook such tasks as trooping, freighting and mail-carrying before being finally disbanded on 24th March, 1946.

First Operational Mission

4/5th February, 1943

8 Wellingtons bombed Lorient. Another Wellington was damaged on take-off, circled runway while others took off and then landed safely.

Last Bombing Attack

8/9th October, 1943

4 Stirlings bombed Bremen and 3 other Stirlings aborted (1 of these ditched in North Sea, but crew were saved).

Last Operational Mission as a Bomber Squadron

L.G. 19.5.44.

Pilot Officer Leon Francis George Noakes (171457) RAFVR No. 7 Squadron, with effect from 21st April 1944 (since deceased).

Pilot Officer Noakes had an outstanding operational record. He has served in both the Middle East and the European theatres of war. In December, 1943 he was midupper gunner in an aircraft detailed for an attack on Leipzig. On the outward flight the aircraft was attacked by an enemy night fighter, and sustained damage.

Although wounded in the foot and suffering intense pain, Pilot Officer Noakes continued to man the turret throughout the time the aircraft was over enemy territory, and, by his vigilant search and excellent directions, enabled his captain to avoid any further combat with enemy fighters.

At all times this officer has maintained the highest standard of determination, keeness and courage.

As an Air Gunner P/O Noakes flew on coastal patrols, night fighter intruder sorties, bombing raids and Pathfinder missions.

The D.F.C. was in effect a posthumous award for Pilot Officer Noakes was killed on his 95th operational sortie when his Lancaster aircraft "J" for Johnnie was shot down during a bombing raid on Laon in France on the night of 22nd/23rd April, 1944. (A letter from the Station Chaplain gives Dusseldorf as the target but official records state that it was Laon.)

"J" for Johnnie crashed at Maizy, some 14 miles S.E. of Laon, killing all seven of the crew who are all buried in the Municipal Cemetery at Maizy.

D.F.C. L.G. 13.10.1944 (149 Sqn.).

As a navigator, Flying Officer Pryor has taken part in many bombing sorties against highly defended targets in Germany, and also in many mine-laying missions. On one occasion, while engaged in mine-laying, one engine of his aircraft failed 50 miles before reaching the target, but this officer with great skill guided his captain to the objective and the mines were laid in the correct position. On the return flight, both compasses failed but by accurate astro-navigation Flying Officer Pryor succeeded in flying the bomber to base.

During his two years on the Squadron, Sergeant Huntington has completed 201 sorties dropping supplies to troops and police patrols in action against the Communist terrorists in Malaya. 31 of these sorties have been completed during the last six months. Many have been made in dangerous and trying conditions, and in bad weather to dropping zones placed in mountainous country. Throughout these operations this Non-Commissioned Officer has shown outstanding determination to complete his tasks and exceptional flying skill in carrying them out. Sergeant Huntington's example and dogged persistence have been an inspiration to the younger Non-Commissioned Officers on the Squadron, and it is in no small part due to his efforts that the Squadron had maintained its high standards.

At ARNHEM on the 25 Sep. 1944, Sjt. Clark was in command of a platoon detailed to clear the enemy from some woods where they were becoming a threat to our main position. On entering the wood the platoon was pinned down by enemy fire from inside the wood. Sgt. Clark however regardless of any personal danger carried on the advance himself, throwing grenades amongst the enemy. At the far end of the woods there was an enemy tank hull down engaging the position on the left. Sjt. Clark immediately collected some grenades, rushed to the tank, opened the top of the turret and dropped the grenades inside, setting the tank on fire. During the hole of this period he was under heavy fire. His gallantry leadership and devotion to duty were beyond all praise.

∴ On 22 Sep. 44, the Bn. was engaged in attacking the village of Wimtelre. The M.G. fire from a group of houses some 600 yds. outside the village had held up two previous attacks. L/Sjt. Hindley and his Carrier Sec. were given the task of neutralizing these enemy posts whilst the Bn. attacked. To enable him to do this successfully L./Sgt. Hindley decided to move in his carriers to a posn. where he could bring the houses under Piat fire. Whilst doing this he and his sec. came under basooka and M.G. fire from the houses so Sgt. Hindley immediately closed his section to within 50 yds. of the houses and destroyed each house in turn with Piat fire. After this action 20 enemy bodies were found in one of the houses. Having completed this task this N.C.O. then found that M.G. fire was coming from a haystack some 100 yds. further down the road. Covered by the remaining carriers he took his own carrier down the road. Covered by the remaining carriers he took his own carrier down the road and silenced this M.G. post. This shock action undoubtedly had a considerable effect in demoralising the enemy further back in the village, who commenced to give themselves up in large numbers as soom as the attacking infantry reached them. Sjt. Hindley's fine leadership, initiative, and disregard of danger were an example to all and contributed greatly to the successful capture of the village. His action far exceeded the task he was given.

"This airman was the wireless operator in an aircraft detailed to attack Pforz heim one night in February, 1945. Soon after the target had been bombed the aircraft sustained serious damage. Several small fires commenced but Flight Sergeant Bettany, displaying great promptitude and bravery, dealt with most of them effectively. Some few minutes later one of the starboard tanks exploded and set the starboard outer engine on fire. The pilot gave the order to abandon aircraft. The intercommunication system was out of action so he requested Flight Sergeant Bettany to give the message verbally to the mid-upper and rear gunners. As he made his way along the fuselage, this airman's parachute caught on some wreckage and opened. Undaunted, Flight Sergeant Bettany completed his errand and ensured that his comrades were clear before he, himself, donned the spare parachute and jumped. His coolness, bravery and resolution in a critical situation set an example of the highest standard."

Extract from Bomber Command War Diaries:

23/24 February 1945
PFORZHEIM
367 Lancasters and 13 Mosquitoes of 1, 6 and 8 Groups and a Film Unit Lancaster carried out the first, and only area-bombing raid of the war on this target. 10 Lancasters were lost and 2 more crashed in France.

The marking and bombing, from only 8,000ft., were particularly accurate and damage of a most severe nature was inflicted on Pforzheim. 1,825 tons of bombs were dropped in 22 minutes. Local records show than an area measuring 3km. by 1½km. was completely engulfed by fire and that "more than 17,000 people met their death in a hurricane of fire and explosions".* Fire Officer Brunswig from Hamburg, usually reliable, says that 17,600 people died. This was probably the third heaviest air-raid death toll in Germay during the war, following Hamburg and Dresden. The post-war British Bombing Survey Unit estimated that 83 per cent. of the town's built-up area was destroyed, probably the greatest proportion in one raid during the war.

Bomber Command's last Victoria Cross of the war was won on this night. The Master Bomber was Captain Edwin Swales, D.F.C., a South African serving with 582 Squadron. His Lancaster was twice attacked over the target by a German fighter. Captain Swales could not hear the evasion directions given by his gunners because he was broadcasting his own instructions to the Main Force. 2 engines and the rear turret of the Lancaster were put out of action. Captain Swales continued to control the bombing until the end of the raid and must take some credit for the accuracy of the attack. He set out on the return flight but encountered turbulent cloud and ordered his crew to bale out. This they all did successfully but Captain Swales had no opportunity to leave the aircraft and was killed when it crashed. He is buried at the Leopold War Cemetery at Limburg in Belgium.

Near BEMMEL on 4th October 1944, C.S.M. ELGIE's company was the right forward company in the battalion attack against strong enemy positions held by S.S. elements. C.S.M. ELGIE was of the greatest assistance to his company commander in encouraging the men forward across the open ground in the face of very heavy defensive shelling and mortaring and intense small arms fire, and showed complete disregard for his own safety. Later, when the company commander was with one of the platoons and there was a considerable amount of mopping up going on, a party of the enemy moved up one of the ditches to attack Coy. H.Q. and try to infiltrate behind one of the platoons. C.S.M. ELGIE immediately dealt with an unpleasant situation almost single handed. He took on the enemy party with his sten and grenades with such effect that three of them were killed and the remainder gave themselves up. C.S.M. ELGIE's behaviour throughout this action and his determination to see that nothing should interfere with the plan contributed materially to the successful outcome of his company's attack and was an inspiration to all.

Over this line was arranged the supporting arty. fire required as a result of infm. received from Bdes. It was thus vitally important that it should be kept through. TOLHURST went out innumerable times to repair the line, which was being constantly cut by the mortar bombs and shells, and the line was never out of order for longer than 15 mins. 313 A rare Military Medal for the campaign in Palestine 1945–1948, awarded to 83216 Craftsman David Keith Ritchie, Royal Electrical & Mechanical Engineers, for Gallantry against the Jewish Terrorist Organisation Irgun Zvai Leumi. In a group of seven: Military Medal Geo. VI "Ind. Imp." legend (83216 Cfn. D. K. Ritchie, R.E.M.E.); 1939/45 Star; Africa Star; Defence Medal; War Medal; G.S.M. 1918 (Army & R.A.F.), Geo. VI, one bar, Palestine 1945–48, "Fid. Def." legend (83216 Cpl. D. K. Ritchie, M.M., R.E.M.E.); Efficiency Medal Geo. VI, "Territorial", "Ind. Imp." legend (83216 Cpl. D. K. Ritchie, M.M., R.E.M.E.). Very fine. (£350–450) 7

∴ "At about 7.30 in the evening on the 27th December, 1945, some 40 or 50 Jews, members of a terrorist organisation known as Irgun Zvai Leumi, and armed with automatic weapons and explosives, cut through the perimeter wire of a British Army camp. They were dressed in British battledress and wearing steel helmets. After they had entered the camp they encountered several British soldiers, one of whom, a lance-corporal, was killed, the rest being taken prisoner. The terrorists then split into two groups, one group entering the main billet, into which they threw a bomb. The second group made for the primary target, the armoury, which was situated inside the Q.M. Stores. They attached explosives to the large sliding doors of the stores, which blew them open. The explosions and gunfire had, of course, alerted the one-man guard inside the armoury, and when they entered the building he had no difficulty, fortunately, in identifying the raiders, despite the fact that they were wearing British battledress, for the British troops never wore steel helmets on the camp. He immediately opened fire on them with his Tommy-gun to which the raiders replied from several quarters, and, whilst avoiding the effects of at least two grenades which were thrown at him he carried on a duel with a Bren-gun which was being used against him, in addition to other types of weapons. After some time the terrorists withdrew from the building, and, after the "retreat" (the British Army call) had been sounded by one of their men on a bugle, they also withdrew from the camp, taking an estimated 5 or 6 dead or wounded with them (they also took the mortally wounded British lance-corporal with them, whom they left on an adjoining football ground, the Maccabi Stadium).

Several such raids had previously taken place in Palestine on Army and R.A.F. camps, and had been successful — this was the first one to fail".

Extract from "Fighter Squadrons of the R.A.F.".

"When the first Auxiliary squadrons were formed in 1925 No. 603 (City of Edinburgh) Squadron was amongst them. Forming at Turnhouse on 14th October, 1925, it began as a light-bomber unit with, successively, D.H.9a's, Wapitis, Harts and Hinds. However on 24th October, 1938, it was re-designated as a fighter squadron and began receiving Gladiators, being completely re-equipped by March, 1939.

Lot

These were short-lived for in the summer Spitfires began replacing them and No. 603 was working-up when war was declared. Action soon came for the squadron for on 16th October there was a raid on Naval vessels in the Firth of Forth for which No. 603 was scrambled; one of the He 111's fell to the squadron's guns. Within a week the squadron was again in action, sharing another He 111 with No. 602 Squadron. It was the first enemy aircraft to fall on British soil. During the "phoney" war the squadron stayed in Scotland and claimed another He 111 off Aberdeen in January, 1940. After that No. 603 flew many patrols without action until June when in a raid on its old base of Turnhouse it destroyed two of the attacking aircraft; the following month was busier with ten enemy aircraft added to the score. At the end of August No. 603 left Scotland for the Battle of Britain. It now found all the action it wanted with the September battles meaning three or four fierce battles against great odds each day. Casualties were not light and the original Auxiliary personnel were now severely diluted by wartime men. After the September fighting activities began to tail off in October and November, although No. 603 still found plenty of action and was involved in the brief Italian raid, destroying seven Fiat CR.42's".

161 SQUADRON R.A.F. FLYING FROM TEMPSFORD.

This squadron was formed 15th February 1942 from a nucleus supplied by the Kings flight at Newmarket as a special duties squadron.

It remained secret throughout the war and did not appear on the R.A.F. list. Its tasks included the landing and picking up of agents from enemy occupied territory and the dropping of supplies and arms to resistance groups in the occupied countries.

In April 1942, it joined 138 squadron at Tempsford where its original Whitleys were replaced by Halifax's in November 1942. The squadron also operated Lysanders into fields in France.

See the book published in 1979 "We landed by Moonlight" by Hugh Verity. This gives much information on a Frenchman named Livry who was in Fewkes' crew.

The original Commanding Officer was Wing Commander Fielden and in May 1943 he was succeeded by Wing Commander Freddy Pickard.

Lot

His first Pilot was Fl./Lt. Marriott and for the drops into France a well known character Fl./Off. Dan Leggate.

14/4/43. Halifax DG 406. F/O Leggate. Perch 7 and Spindle A, both missions completed. Area France. Took off 21.00 crossed coast at Tangmere and Cabourg. Perch 7 at 00.30 hours. It was rather difficult to find owing to the numerous lakes in the area which were not easy to distinguish one from another and also to the woods around the pinpoint. Lights also were dim and only visible when directly over head. 5 containers were dropped and then proceeded to Spindle A which was found without much difficulty. One agent, 2 containers and 4 packages were dropped at 00.50 hours. In this instance a bonfire had been lit as well as normal reception lights and this proved most helpful. Leaflets were dropped over Macon at 11.40 hours and pigeons were released over Cambremer at 22.25 hours. A/C returned to base 04.10.

16/4/43. Halifax DG 405. Chaffinch 1 completed. Centaur not completed. F/O Leggate. Area Norway. A/C took off at 21.30 hous and crossed coast via Wells and Lister. Searched for target which was found without difficulty, identified by lake and reception lights which were very good. Dropped six containers and four packages. Time 01.00 hours. High wind had now risen so did not attempt container. Returned 05.25 to base.

(Note that this flight had taken eight hours).

18/4/43. Halifax DG 406. F/O Leggate. Scientist 22 not completed. Scientist 19 completed. Prunus 5 completed. Area France. A/C took off 21.53 hours and crossed at Tangmere and reached Arromanches 23.50. Set course from Saumer and by making runs from Angouleme identified pinpoint for target but could obtain no reception. Kept around from 00.42 to 01.05 and then proceeded on to Scientist 19. This was located at 01.08 hours and 5 containers were dropped. After completing on to Prunus. Rather difficult to find as little detail. Dropped final load of 4 containers and turned for base 01.43 hours. 04.53 arrived back.

391 Pair to A. Evans: G.S.M. (Army & R.A.F.), 1918, EIIR, one bar, Malaya (23200134 Tpr. S.A.S.), "Dei Gratia Regina F.D." legend; G.S.M. 1962, three bars, Borneo, Radfan, Northern Ireland (23200134 L./Cpl. S.A.S.). Both medals are marked "Duplicate". Nearly extremely fine. (£200–250) 2

∴ 23200134 S./Sgt. A. EVANS.

Joined the South Wales Borderers in 1955, serving in MALAYA, and joined "D" Squadron, 22nd S.A.S. in 1957. There is a possibility that he served in Oman 1959.

In 1963, as a Lance-Corporal took part in patrol work in BORNEO — I initially had been told that he was "A" Sqn., but in "Jungle Frontier" by Peter Dickens (Arms & Armour Press, 1983) he is mentioned as being in Lillico's patrol — which was "D" Squadron, unless he changed Squadrons later.

In 1964, he was with "A" Squadron, since he qualified for the RADFAN clasp, and subsequently served in SOUTH ARABIA with the South Wales Borderers, c. 1966–67.

Between 1970 and 1976 he was again with the S.A.S. and served in DHOFAR — he is on the Roll, though his number ends 154, but has got to be him, since at some point in time, he was responsible for rescuing some pilgrims. It appears that a boat containing pilgrims on their way to Mecca caught fire and he and several other medics rescued pilgrims using light motor boats. The Egyptians wanted to give the men a high life-saving award, but this would have caused embarrassment to the British Government, since technically there were no British — let alone S.A.S. — troops in the area. Also the Egyptians were supplying the Yemenite rebels with arms, which the S.A.S. were trying to destroy!!

I have searched The Times for the period, but can't find any reference to it, so was probably suppressed at unit level.

He was also known as "Evans The Rope", since he was a first class mountaineer, and also passed the German Alpine Course with a credit — entitled to wear the "Heeresbergfuhrer" Mountain Guide badge — Dave Seeney informed me that at that time c. 1975 he was only one of 2 to pass the course, and the badge is only issued once so would appear to be a very scarce trade badge item.

In 1977, he was Colour-Sgt. Storeman at Hereford, before he re-joined the Royal Regiment of Wales for their NORTHERN IRELAND tour.

392 Three to C. Austin: G.S.M., EIIR, one bar, Cyprus (23288358 S./Sgt. R. Sigs.), Korea (2328328 Sgt. R. Sigs.), both impressed replacement, U.N. Korea. Extremely fine. (£40–60) 3

∴ Peter Eden Dixon; born 1861. Joined R.E. 1881; Capt. 1889, Major 1899, Lt.-Col. 1910, retired 1913.

AUCTIONEERS & VALUERS OF COINS & MEDALS

Glendining's Subscription Service

Subscriptions to our catalogues run on an annual basis from January each year. On average we issue some 20 Coin catalogues, and a further four specialising in Orders, Decorations and Medals, for which a separate subscription rate is offered. Most catalogues contain some plates of illustrations. In the course of each year several of the catalogues are of more important collections, and usually two or more contain coins of the Ancient World.

We aim to post the catalogues to arrive some three weeks prior to the date of the sale. Lists of "Prices Realised" are issued after each sale and these are enclosed in a following catalogue, at no extra cost.

Subscriptions received after July 1st are for half the annual cost.

For the convenience of customers the subscriptions are priced for differing postal zones, and all overseas catalogues are sent by air mail.

Zone A = U.K. and Ireland; Zone B = Europe; Zone C = Rest of the World

Type of catalogue	Zone A	Zone B	Zone C
Coin sales	£15	£20	£30 (U.S. $45)
Medal sales	£6	£8	£15 (U.S. $25)
